

Whistleblower Policy

VGI Partners Limited ACN 129 188 450

1. Aim

VGI Partners Limited (VGI or the Company) is committed to transparency and to building an environment in which people feel free to raise legitimate issues relating to the Company's operations.

This Policy supplements the Company's Code of Conduct and Fraud and Corruption Policy. The aim of this Policy is to help deter wrongdoing relating to the Company's operations, by encouraging disclosure of wrongdoing and ensuring that anyone who makes a disclosure can do so safely, securely and with confidence that they will be protected and supported.

This Policy is publicly available on the Company's website.

References to VGI or the Company include VGI Partners Limited and its wholly owned subsidiaries.

2. Purpose

2.1 The Corporations Act 2001 (Cth) (Corporations Act) and the Taxation Administration Act 1953 (Cth) provide protections for whistleblowers (Whistleblower Protection Scheme).

2.2 The purpose of this Policy is to set out information relating to the Whistleblower Protection Scheme, including information about:

- (a) the types of disclosures that qualify for protection;
- (b) the protections available to whistleblowers;
- (c) who disclosures can be made to and how they can be made;
- (d) how the Company will support whistleblowers and protect them from detriment;
- (e) how the Company will investigate disclosures;
- (f) how the Company will ensure fair treatment of employees who are the subject of or are mentioned in disclosures; and
- (g) how this Policy is to be made available to officers and employees of the Company.

3. Scope of the Whistleblower Protection Scheme

What disclosures are protected?

3.1 A disclosure will 'qualify' for protection under the Whistleblower Protection Scheme if:

- (a) it is a disclosure by an 'eligible whistleblower' (see paragraph 4) to:
 - (i) ASIC, APRA, the Commissioner of Taxation (in relation to tax matters), a prescribed Commonwealth authority or a legal practitioner (to obtain legal advice or legal representation about the operation of the Whistleblower Protection Scheme); or
 - (ii) an 'eligible recipient' (see paragraph 6); and
- (b) the eligible whistleblower has 'reasonable grounds' to 'suspect' that the disclosed information concerns a disclosable matter (see paragraph 5).

Public interest and emergency disclosures also qualify for protection – see paragraphs 6.7 and 6.9.

4. Who is an 'eligible whistleblower'?

4.1 The following persons are capable of being 'eligible whistleblowers':

- (a) an officer or employee of the Company (including, but not limited to employees who are permanent, part-time, fixed-term or temporary, and interns, secondees and managers);
- (b) an individual who is an associate of the Company; and
- (c) an individual who supplies goods or services to the Company (whether paid or unpaid) or is an employee of a supplier (which may include, among others, contractors, consultants and service providers).

4.2 An 'eligible whistleblower' also includes an individual who previously held any of the above positions or functions or who is a relative of the individuals set out above or a dependant of one of those individuals or of the spouse of such an individual.

5. What information will be a disclosable matter?

What is a 'disclosable matter'?

5.1 A disclosable matter is information that:

- (a) concerns misconduct or an improper state of affairs or circumstances in relation to the Company or one of its related bodies corporate; or
- (b) indicates the Company, a related body corporate or one of its or their officers or employees has engaged in conduct that constitutes an offence against, or a contravention of, the:
 - (i) Corporations Act 2001 (Cth);
 - (ii) Australian Securities and Investments Commission Act 2001 (Cth);
 - (iii) Financial Sector (Collection of Data) Act 2001 (Cth);
 - (iv) and any instrument made under these Acts;
- (c) constitutes an offence against any other law of the Commonwealth punishable by imprisonment for 12 months or more; or
- (d) represents a danger to the public or the financial system.

5.2 The misconduct or an improper state of affairs can also be in respect of tax affairs.

5.3 Disclosable matters do not necessarily involve a contravention of a law. For example, 'misconduct or an improper state of affairs or circumstances' could involve conduct that, whilst not unlawful, indicates a systemic issue of concern that the relevant regulator should know about to properly perform its functions. It may also relate to business behaviour and practices that may cause consumer harm. Also, information that indicates a significant risk to public safety or the stability of, or confidence in, the financial system is a disclosable matter, even if it does not involve a breach of a particular law.

5.4 Further examples of disclosable matters include:

- (a) illegal conduct, such as theft, dealing in, or use of illicit drugs, violence or threatened violence, and criminal damage against property;
- (b) fraud, money laundering or misappropriation of funds;
- (c) offering or accepting a bribe;
- (d) financial irregularities;
- (e) failure to comply with, or breach of, legal or regulatory requirements; and

- (f) engaging in or threatening to engage in detrimental conduct against a person who has made a disclosure or is believed or suspected to have made, or be planning to make, a disclosure.

5.5 An eligible whistleblower who makes a disclosure must have 'reasonable grounds to suspect' that the information concerns a disclosable matter to qualify for protection. This means that even if a disclosure turns out to be incorrect, the protections will still apply, provided the eligible whistleblower had 'reasonable grounds to suspect' that the information concerned a disclosable matter. While an eligible whistleblower does not have to prove the allegations raised in their disclosure, they should have some form of supporting information underlying their belief in order to qualify for protection – they cannot make a completely baseless allegation.

5.6 Disclosures that are not about a disclosable matter are not covered by this Policy and do not qualify for protection under the Whistleblower Protection Scheme. However, such disclosures may be protected under other legislation, such as the Fair Work Act 2009 (Cth), for example, personal work-related grievances (see paragraph 5.10 below).

Deliberate false reports not tolerated

5.7 The Company will treat all reports of disclosable matters seriously and endeavour to protect anyone who raises concerns in line with this Policy. As noted above, an eligible whistleblower can still qualify for protection under this Policy where their disclosure turns out to be incorrect.

5.8 However, deliberate false or vexatious reports will not be tolerated. Anyone found making a deliberate false claim or report will be subject to disciplinary action, which could include dismissal.

5.9 However, if an eligible whistleblower reasonably suspects misconduct or have some information leading to a suspicion (but lack all the details) we encourage eligible whistleblower's to nonetheless come forward. Provided the eligible whistleblower makes their disclosure in good faith, they may still be protected even if their allegation is then found to be incorrect, unfounded or unable to be substantiated in a subsequent investigation.

Personal work-related grievances

5.10 A disclosure does not qualify for protection under the Whistleblower Protection Scheme to the extent that the information disclosed:

- (a) concerns a personal work-related grievance of the eligible whistleblower; and
- (b) does not concern a contravention, or an alleged contravention of the detriment provisions referred to in this Policy.

5.11 A disclosure includes a 'personal work-related grievance' if:

- (a) the information concerns a grievance about a matter relating to the eligible whistleblower's employment, or former employment, having (or tending to have) implications for the eligible whistleblower personally; and
- (b) the information:
 - (i) does not have significant implications for the Company, or another regulated entity, that do not relate to the eligible whistleblower; and
 - (ii) does not concern conduct, or alleged conduct, referred to in paragraph 5.1(b), 5.1(c), or 5.1(d) of this Policy.

5.12 However, a disclosure about, or including, a personal work-related grievance may still qualify for protection if:

- (a) the information relates to both a disclosable matter and a personal work-related grievance (ie, it is a mixed disclosure);
- (b) it involves a breach by the Company of employment or other laws punishable by imprisonment for a period of 12 months or more; or
- (c) the eligible whistleblower seeks legal advice or legal representation about the operation of the whistleblower protections under the Corporations Act.

- 5.13 Examples of personal work-related grievances include:
- (a) an interpersonal conflict between the eligible whistleblower and another employee;
 - (b) a decision that does not involve a breach of workplace laws;
 - (c) a decision relating to the engagement, transfer or promotion of the eligible whistleblower;
 - (d) a decision relating to the terms and conditions of engagement of the eligible whistleblower; or
 - (e) a decision to suspend or terminate the employment of the discloser, or otherwise to discipline the eligible whistleblower.
- 5.14 Disclosures about personal work-related grievances should be raised under the Company's existing internal grievance procedures.
- 5.15 A disclosure or a personal work-related grievance may still fall under the whistleblower provisions if:
- (a) the person suffers, or is threatened with, detriment for making the disclosure;
 - (b) the disclosure includes information about misconduct, an improper state of affairs or circumstances, a breach of the law, or danger to the public or financial system, in addition to the personal work-related grievance; or
 - (c) the disclosure suggests misconduct that has significant implications for VGI beyond the discloser's personal circumstances.

6. Who can receive a disclosure?

- 6.1 For the protections under the Whistleblower Protection Scheme to apply, a disclosure must be made directly to an 'eligible recipient'. These people are detailed below. An eligible whistleblower's disclosure qualifies for protection from the time it is made to an eligible recipient, regardless of whether the eligible whistleblower or the recipient recognises that the disclosure qualifies for protection at that time.

Eligible recipients within the Company

- 6.2 The Company encourages that disclosures be made internally to the persons set out below (referred to as Authorised Recipients) – each of whom has relevant experience to deal with such matters. Authorised Recipients can be contacted in the following ways:

Elizabeth Bruce:	elizabeth.bruce@vgipartners.com	Ext 922
Ian Cameron:	ian.cameron@vgipartners.com	Ext 924

- 6.3 Whilst the Company encourages disclosures to an Authorised Recipient, if it relates to the Chief Executive Officer or a director of the Company, it should be raised directly with the Chair of the Audit and Risk Committee, who can be contacted in the following ways:

Chair of Audit and Risk Committee: Jaye Gardner compliance@vgipartners.com

- 6.4 If an eligible whistleblower does not feel comfortable raising their disclosure with an Authorised Recipient, they could also raise it with any of the following:
- (a) an officer or senior manager of the Company or a related body corporate. For these purposes, an officer includes a director or company secretary, a senior manager includes the Chief Executive Officer, Chief Operating Officer, Chief Financial Officer, Head of Compliance; or
 - (b) the internal (if any) or external auditors of the Company or a related body corporate (including a member of an audit team conducting an audit).

Disclosure to external regulatory bodies

- 6.5 While the Company encourages eligible whistleblowers to make disclosures internally, an eligible whistleblower may choose to raise disclosable matters outside of the Company with:
- (a) ASIC; or
 - (b) APRA; or
 - (c) a Commonwealth authority prescribed in the Corporations Regulations.

Disclosure to a legal practitioner

- 6.6 A report of a disclosable matter will also be protected if it is to a qualified legal practitioner for the purpose of taking legal advice or legal representation in relation to the operation of the whistleblower provisions in the Corporations Act (even if the legal practitioner subsequently concludes that the information does not relate to a disclosable matter).

Public interest disclosures

- 6.7 There is an additional category of disclosures called 'public interest disclosures' that qualify for protection. These can be made to journalists and members of Parliament, but only if the eligible whistleblower complies with the following strict requirements:
- (a) the eligible whistleblower must have first made a qualifying disclosure to ASIC, APRA, or a prescribed Commonwealth authority and at least 90 days have passed since that time;
 - (b) the eligible whistleblower does not have reasonable grounds to believe that action is being, or has been, taken to address the matters to which the qualifying disclosure related;
 - (c) the eligible whistleblower has reasonable grounds to believe that making a public interest disclosure would be in the public interest;
 - (d) after 90 days has passed, the eligible whistleblower must give the body to which the qualifying disclosure was originally made, a written notification that:
 - (i) includes sufficient information to identify the qualifying disclosure; and
 - (ii) states that the eligible whistleblower intends to make a public interest disclosure; and
 - (e) the extent of the information disclosed in the public interest disclosure is no greater than to inform the journalist or member of Parliament of the misconduct or improper state of affairs or circumstances, or other conduct falling within the scope of the Whistleblower Protection Scheme.
- 6.8 If the eligible whistleblower goes public with concerns in another way, such as by posting on social media, then they may not be covered under the Whistleblower Protection Scheme.

Emergency disclosures

- 6.9 There is an additional category of disclosures called 'emergency disclosures' that qualify for protection. These can be made to journalists and members of Parliament, but only if the eligible whistleblower complies with the following strict requirements:
- (a) the eligible whistleblower must have first made a qualifying disclosure to ASIC, APRA or a prescribed Commonwealth authority;
 - (b) the eligible whistleblower has reasonable grounds to believe that information concerns a substantial and imminent danger to the health or safety of one or more persons or to the natural environment;
 - (c) the eligible whistleblower gave written notice to the body to which the qualifying disclosure was made that states:
 - (i) that they intend to make an emergency disclosure; and
 - (ii) includes sufficient information to identify the qualifying disclosure; and

- (d) the extent of the information disclosed in the emergency disclosure is no greater than is necessary to inform the journalist or member of Parliament of the substantial and imminent danger.
- 6.10 Before making a public interest or emergency disclosure, it is important that an eligible whistleblower understands the criteria for protection under the relevant legislation. Eligible whistleblowers should obtain independent legal advice prior to making any disclosure.
- 6.11 A 'qualifying disclosure' is a disclosure of information from an eligible whistleblower who has reasonable grounds to suspect that the information concerns:
 - a) misconduct (includes fraud, negligence, default, breach of trust and breach of duty);
 - b) an improper state of affairs or circumstances (may indicate a systemic issue or unethical business behaviour and practices);
 - c) a breach of the law; or
 - d) danger to the public of the financial system.
- 6.12 A whistleblower's identity consent or limits thereto should be made clear in the qualifying disclosure. If not, this should be clarified by the Authorised Recipient(s) with the whistleblower as soon as practicable after receiving their qualifying disclosure. If the whistleblower is uncomfortable with providing consent, the Authorised Recipient(s) should clarify how the Company will protect them and their identifying information during any subsequent investigation and steps to address any misconduct.

7. Anonymous Disclosures

- 7.1 An eligible whistleblower can choose to make a disclosure anonymously and to remain anonymous over the course of the investigation and after the investigation is finalised – they may also decide not to answer questions that they feel could reveal their identity at any time, including during follow-up conversations. For example, they may do so because of concerns about their identity becoming known. If such concerns exist, an eligible whistleblower may prefer to adopt a pseudonym for the purposes of their disclosure (not their true name) – or to create an anonymous email address to submit their disclosure to an Authorised Recipient. Regardless, anonymous disclosures are still capable of being protected under the Whistleblower Protection Scheme.
- 7.2 Reporting anonymously may hinder our ability to fully investigate a reported matter. For this reason, we encourage anonymous eligible whistleblowers to maintain ongoing two-way communication with us (such as via an anonymous email address), so that we can ask follow-up questions or provide feedback.

8. Protections

- 8.1 Important protections relating to confidentiality and detriment apply to eligible whistleblowers who report disclosable matters in accordance with the Whistleblower Protection Scheme outlined in this Policy. The protections apply not only to internal disclosures, but to disclosures to legal practitioners, regulatory and other external bodies, and public interest and emergency disclosures that are made in accordance with the Corporations Act.
 - 8.2 The Company takes contraventions of these protections very seriously and will take disciplinary action against anyone for doing so. If an eligible whistleblower has any particular concerns about this, they can raise them with an Authorised Recipient.
 - 8.3 Civil and criminal sanctions also apply for breaches of these protections.
- Confidentiality*
- 8.4 Strict confidentiality obligations apply in respect of any disclosures that qualify for protection under the Whistleblower Protection Scheme.

- 8.5 Unless the eligible whistleblower consents, it is against the law for a person to disclose an eligible whistleblower's identity or any information that may lead to their identification (subject to the exceptions set out below).
- 8.6 If an eligible whistleblower's disclosure qualifies for protection set out in this Policy, it is likely that the eligible whistleblower will be asked to provide consent to the disclosure of their identity or information that is likely to lead to their identification. This would be to facilitate any investigation and/or resolution of the matter. If consent is withheld, it may not be possible to adequately investigate and respond (if at all) to the disclosure.
- 8.7 If an eligible whistleblower does not consent to their identity being disclosed, it will still be lawful to disclose their identity:
- (a) to ASIC, APRA, the AFP or the Commissioner of Taxation (in relation to tax matters);
 - (b) to a legal practitioner for the purposes of obtaining legal advice or legal representation about the disclosure;
 - (c) to a body prescribed by the Corporations Regulations; or
 - (d) with the consent of the eligible whistleblower.
- 8.8 It will also be lawful to disclose information in a disclosure without the eligible whistleblower's consent if this is reasonably necessary for the purpose of investigating the disclosure (provided the information does not include the eligible whistleblower's identity and the Company takes all reasonable steps to reduce the risk that the eligible whistleblower will be identified as a result of the disclosure).
- 8.9 ASIC, APRA or the AFP can disclose the identity of an eligible whistleblower, or information that is likely to lead to the identification of the eligible whistleblower, to a Commonwealth, State or Territory authority to help the authority in the performance of its functions or duties.
- 8.10 VGI takes the protection of an eligible whistleblower's identity seriously. Steps it will take to help achieve this may include:
- (a) maintaining mechanisms to reduce the risk that the eligible whistleblower will be identified from the information contained in a disclosure (such as redactions of the whistleblower's name, position title, team and other identifying details or referring to the person in gender neutral terms etc);
 - (b) maintaining mechanisms for secure record-keeping and information-sharing processes and limiting access to records and information;
 - (c) reminding each person (as appropriate) who is involved in handling and investigating a disclosure about the confidentiality requirements, including that an unauthorised disclosure of an eligible whistleblower's identity or information likely to lead to their identification may be a criminal offence and a civil penalty. VGI could also be liable for compensation to a whistleblower if they suffer loss, damage or injury from detrimental conduct (such as the whistleblower's reputation) by someone within VGI for making their report.
- 8.11 In practice, it is important to recognise that an eligible whistleblower's identity may still be determined if the eligible whistleblower has previously mentioned to other people that they are considering making a disclosure, the eligible whistleblower is one of a very small number of people with access to the information or the disclosure related to information that an eligible whistleblower has previously been told privately and in confidence.
- 8.12 If there is a breach of confidentiality, an eligible whistleblower can lodge a complaint with an Authorised Recipient or a regulator such as ASIC, APRA or the ATO for investigation.
- The Company cannot pursue action against the eligible whistleblower*
- 8.13 An eligible whistleblower is protected from any civil liability, criminal liability and/or administrative liability (including disciplinary action) for making a qualifying disclosure in accordance with the Whistleblower Protection Scheme, and no contractual or other remedy may be enforced or exercised against the eligible whistleblower on the basis of a qualifying disclosure.

8.14 However, the protections do not grant immunity for any misconduct an eligible whistleblower has engaged in that is revealed in their disclosure.

Detriments and threats of detriment or victimisation prohibited

8.15 The protections also make it unlawful for a person to engage in conduct against another person that causes or threatens to cause detriment to, or victimise:

- (a) in circumstances where the person believes or suspects that the other person or a third person made, may have made, proposes to make or could make a qualifying disclosure; and
- (b) if the belief or suspicion held by that person is the reason or part of the reason for their conduct.

8.16 Threats of detriments will also be unlawful if the person making the threat intended to cause fear that a detriment would be carried out or was reckless as to whether the person against who it was directed would fear the threatened detriment being carried out.

8.17 Threats may be express or implied, conditional or unconditional. An eligible whistleblower (or another person) who has been threatened in relation to a disclosure does not have to actually fear that the threat will be carried out.

8.18 The meaning of 'detriment' is very broad and includes:

- (a) dismissing an employee;
- (b) injuring an employee in their employment;
- (c) altering an employee's position or duties to their disadvantage;
- (d) discriminating between an employee and other employees;
- (e) harassing or intimidating a person;
- (f) harming or injuring a person;
- (g) damaging a person's property, reputation, business or financial position; and
- (h) any other damage to a person.

8.19 It may be necessary during the course of an investigation to take reasonable administrative action to protect an eligible whistleblower from detriment (e.g. changing the whistleblower's reporting line if the disclosure relates to a manager). Such conduct will not be detrimental conduct. A disclosure will also not prohibit the Company from managing (in the ordinary way) any separate performance issues that may affect the work of an eligible whistleblower.

8.20 A whistleblower may be subject to disciplinary action if, in the course of investigating a disclosure, the Company determines that the eligible whistleblower was complicit in the misconduct or improper state of affairs or has otherwise acted in an improper way.

8.21 Information about what the Company will do to provide support to and protect an eligible whistleblower is set out in paragraph 10. However, if an eligible whistleblower believes they have suffered detriment they can lodge a complaint with an Authorised Recipient or a regulator such as ASIC or APRA for investigation.

8.22 Some examples of non-detrimental conduct include:

- (a) administrative action that is reasonable to protect an eligible whistleblower from detriment (e.g. when the disclosure relates to wrongdoing in the eligible whistleblower's immediate work area); or
- (b) managing an eligible whistleblower's unsatisfactory work performance, if the action is in line with the Company's performance management framework.

Court orders

- 8.23 Courts are given broad scope to make orders remedying a detriment or threatened detriment. These include injunctions, compensation orders (including against individual employees and their employer), reinstatement, exemplary damages and the making of apologies.
- 8.24 An eligible whistleblower can seek compensation and other remedies through the courts if:
- (a) they suffer loss, damage or injury because of a disclosure; and
 - (b) the Company failed to take reasonable precautions and exercise due diligence to prevent the detrimental conduct.
- 8.25 Civil and criminal sanctions also apply to breaches of the Whistleblower Protection Scheme. The Company encourages eligible whistleblowers to seek independent legal advice in regards to seeking compensation or other remedies.

Are there any other protections that are available?

- 8.26 Disclosures may also amount to the exercise of a workplace right by an employee or contractor. The Company and its employees are prohibited under the Fair Work Act 2009 (Cth) from taking adverse action against employees or contractors because they exercised or propose to exercise any workplace rights.
- 8.27 The Taxation Administration Act 1953 (Cth) also gives whistleblowers special protections for disclosures about breaches of any Australian tax laws by the Company or misconduct in relation to the Company's tax affairs where certain conditions are satisfied.
- 8.28 Eligible whistleblowers are encouraged to obtain independent legal advice prior to making any disclosure.

9. Further steps and investigation of disclosures

- 9.1 The Company will acknowledge receipt of a disclosure within a reasonable period, assuming the 'eligible whistleblower' can be contacted (including through anonymous channels). The Company will assess disclosures to determine whether:
- (a) they fall within the Whistleblower Protection Scheme; and
 - (b) an investigation is required – and if so, how that investigation should be carried out.
- 9.2 Generally, if an investigation is required, the Company will determine:
- (a) the nature and scope of the investigation;
 - (b) who should lead the investigation – including whether an external investigation is appropriate;
 - (c) the nature of any technical, financial or legal advice that may be required to support the investigation; and
 - (d) the anticipated timeframe for the investigation. Each investigation will be different which will impact the applicable timeframe. However, the Company's intent is to complete an investigation as soon as practicable.
- 9.3 Where practicable, the Company will keep the eligible whistleblower informed of the steps taken or to be taken (or if no action is to be taken, the reason for this), and provide appropriate updates, including about the completion of any investigation. However, the extent of the information provided, or whether it will be provided at all, will be subject to applicable confidentiality considerations, legal obligations and any other factors the Company considers relevant in the particular situation.
- 9.4 The Company may not be able to undertake an investigation, or provide information about the process etc, if it is not able to contact the eligible whistleblower, for example, if a disclosure is made anonymously and has not provided a means of contact.

- 9.5 Where practicable, whistleblowers will receive updates about when the investigation has begun, while the investigation is in progress and after the investigation has been finalised. The frequency and timeframe of any updates may vary depending on the nature of the disclosure. The Company will also have regard to confidentiality considerations when providing updates.

Documenting and reporting the findings of an investigation

- 9.6 Where appropriate, the Company will report findings of an investigation to the Audit and Risk Committee. The method for documenting and reporting the findings of an investigation will depend on the nature of the disclosure – but may include a summary report of the findings. Any reporting of findings will have regard to applicable confidentiality requirements. There may be circumstances where it may not be appropriate to provide details of the outcome to the eligible whistleblower.

10. Support and fair treatment

- 10.1 The Company is committed to transparency and to building an environment in which people feel free to raise legitimate issues relating to the Company's operations. The Company is also committed to protecting eligible whistleblowers from detriment.
- 10.2 When a qualifying disclosure under the Whistleblower Protection Scheme is made, the Company will reiterate the requirements of this Policy to relevant individuals to ensure the protections are not undermined.
- 10.3 Disciplinary action up to and including dismissal may be taken against any person who causes or threatens to cause any detriment against an eligible whistleblower.
- 10.4 The Company may also consider a range of other matters to protect an eligible whistleblower from the risk of suffering detriment and to ensure fair treatment of individuals mentioned in a disclosure. Steps it will take to help achieve this may include:
- (a) assessing whether anyone may have a motive to cause detriment—information could be gathered from an eligible whistleblower about:
 - (i) the risk of their identity becoming known;
 - (ii) who they fear might cause detriment to them;
 - (iii) whether there are any existing conflicts or problems in the work place; and
 - (iv) whether there have already been threats to cause detriment.
 - (b) analysing and evaluating the likelihood of each risk and evaluating the severity of the consequences;
 - (c) developing and implementing strategies to prevent or contain the risks—for anonymous disclosures, it may be worthwhile assessing whether the discloser's identity can be readily identified or may become apparent during an investigation;
 - (d) monitoring and reassessing the risk of detriment where required—the risk of detriment may increase or change as an investigation progresses, and even after an investigation is finalised;
 - (e) taking steps to ensure that:
 - (i) disclosures will be handled confidentially, when it is practical and appropriate in the circumstances;
 - (ii) each disclosure will be assessed and may be the subject of an investigation;
 - (iii) the objective of an investigation is to determine whether there is enough evidence to substantiate or refute the matters disclosed;
 - (iv) when an investigation needs to be undertaken, the process will be objective, fair and independent;

- (f) assisting the eligible whistleblower by providing support services such as counselling services and access to resources for strategies to manage stress, time or performance impacts resulting from the investigation;
- (g) allowing the eligible whistleblower (where appropriate) to perform their duties from another location or reassigning the eligible whistleblower to another role of the same level or making other modifications to the workplace or the way the eligible whistleblower performs their duties; and/or
- (h) where necessary, undertaking specific interventions to protect an eligible whistleblower where detriment has already occurred including disciplinary action, extended leave for the eligible whistleblower and alternative career development and training.
- (i) If the disclosure mentions or relates to employees of the Company other than the eligible whistleblower, the Company will take steps to ensure that those individuals are treated fairly. Typically, this would include giving those persons an opportunity to respond to the subject matter of the disclosure having regard to principles of procedural fairness. In addition, action would only be taken against such a person if there is cogent evidence of wrongdoing.

11. Vexatious or false disclosures

- 11.1 An eligible whistleblower will only be protected if they have objectively reasonable grounds to suspect that the information that they disclose concerns misconduct or an improper state of affairs or circumstances or other conduct falling within the scope of the Whistleblower Protection Scheme.
- 11.2 The protections under the Whistleblower Protection Scheme will not extend to vexatious or deliberately false complaints. If any investigation of a disclosure demonstrates that it was not made on objectively reasonable grounds, it will not be protected.
- 11.3 Depending on the circumstances, it may be appropriate for the Company to take disciplinary action against any person who does not have objectively reasonable grounds for their disclosure. Such action may include the termination of employment.

12. Other matters

- 12.1 This Policy will be made available to the Company's employees and officers via the Company's website and staff compliance intranet.
- 12.2 This Policy is not intended to go beyond the Corporations Act. This Policy is not a term of any contract, including any contract of employment and does not impose any contractual duties, implied or otherwise, on the Company. This Policy may be varied by the Company from time to time, including as part of any review.

13. Review and changes to this Policy

- 13.1 The Board will review this Policy every two (2) years or as often as it considers necessary to ensure that it remains effective and meets the needs of the Company.
- 13.2 The Board may amend this Policy from time to time by resolution.

14. Approved and adopted

This Policy was last reviewed and approved by the Board on 1 November 2021.
